SUNRISE OVER THE BAY

LOCATION.

Along the Southern coast of the State of Mississippi, lies a region richly dowered with natural beauties. In front, the sparkling waters of the Mexican Gulf stretch far away to the south; in the rear, forests of lordly pines, after charging the air with health-giving aroma, serve to ward off the chilling blasts from the north. At the extreme western end of this delightful belt, fifty-two miles from New Orleans by the Louisville and Nashville Railroad, the shore line makes a crescent-like curve, and along the picturesque beach of the inlet thus formed, stretches the thriving town of Bay St. Louis.

Here, surrounded by beauties of nature and art, on rising ground, at one of the horns of the crescent, stands St. Stanislaus College. Far enough from New Orleans to escape its distractions, Bay St. Louis is yet close enough to it to enjoy all the conveniences of a large city; and thus combining the double charm of city life with country life, salutary isolation with wholesome climate, the Bay is particularly fitted as a site for an educational institution. In addition, the beautiful buildings, the shaded campus, the balmy sea breeze and the opportunities for bathing afforded by the Gulf, all concur to make the college a delightful home, admirably adapted to promote the health, comfort and intellectual progress of its pupils.

HISTORICAL

St. Stanislaus College owes its foundation to the zealous and generous Rev. Stanislaus Buteux, pastor of Bay St. Louis. In 1850, he opened a boarding and day school in his presbytery. He called to his aid the Christian Brothers, who remained till the fall of 1853, when a terrible epidemic of yellow fever broke up the school and dispersed the Brothers. Then he applied to the Brothers of the Sacred Heart, who at that time had several flourishing schools in the city of Mobile, Ala. In June, 1854, Brothers Basile, Aloysius and Leo were sent to help him. For two years the Brothers lived in the presbytery and under the direction of Father Buteux taught two classes in a small frame cottage still extant on the church premises. Before long, the existing accommodations proved inadequate.

In the fall of 1854, Rev. Father Buteux journeyed to France, his native land, to plead with Brother Polycarp, Superior General of the Brothers of the Sacred Heart, for the foundation of a large boarding school in his parish, offering to defray part of the expenses. His request was favorably received and on his return from Europe, January, 1855, he was accompanied by five Brothers who joined the pioneers of Christian Education on the Gulf Coast.

On February 24, a site for the proposed school was purchased. It was situated on the Bay shore, about a hundred yards south of the Church, and measured 140 by 7680 feet. A large frame building, suitable for both dormitory and class purposes, was erected at once and was ready for occupancy by January, 1856. Brother Athanasius was appointed Director and was first teacher of the new school, which he named St. Stanislaus.

From 1856 to 1870, the course of studies was that of a common school, specializing in commercial branches. In 1870, the course of study was extended so as to include Commercial Law, General History, Rhetoric, Literature, Algebra, Geometry, Trigonometry and Surveying. During the same year, the management made application to the Legislature of Mississippi for a charter of incorporation. The request was granted without delay, the enacting clause of the instrument reading as follows:

"Be it enacted by the Legislature of the State of Mississippi:

"That said Board of Trustees shall prescribe the course of study to be pursued in St. Stanislaus College and shall have the power to grant diplomas and degrees under such rules and regulations as they shall prescribe."

The first Alumnus of the College was Mr. John Claverie, of New Orleans, whose diploma dates from 1871. The Alumni Roll, in the current year 1924, is 422. Most of the Graduates have attained high positions of honor and trust, many have become successful business men or prosperous planters.

The original property, considerably enlarged by subsequent purchases, comprises sixty-five acres, upon which various buildings have been erected to meet the demands of an ever-increasing attendance.

On June 21, 1903, early at night, within an hour and a half, fire swept away all of the buildings situated on the water front; only the kitchen and the dining rooms being spared. Work started at once to replace the destroyed buildings, and a new St. Stanislaus College arose, more modern, attractive and substantial, from the ashes.

The present College was blessed June 21, 1904, by the late Right Reverend Thomas Heslin, Bishop of Natchez. The ceremony inaugurated, at the same time, the festivities in honor of the Golden Jubilee of the Institution.

TO FORMER ST. STANISLAUS STUDENTS.

Help the Good Work!

If God has blessed you with an abundance of wealth you should be most thankful for this great blessing. Probably you have been put in the way of gaining this wealth by the unselfish devotion of some good Brother of the Sacred Heart under God. You may owe all that you are to the self-sacrificing devotion of some dear remembered teacher.

You feel that you could not do enough in memory of some cherished Brother. You would like to know that our Catholic schools are still taught by such men and that your children will come under the like influence. You feel that such work should be perpetuated. And so it is.

There are in Metuchen, N. J., some 70 young men who are preparing themselves for the life of sacrifice like that of your former teacher. Probably these young men may have become acquainted with the virtues of your former teacher and are trying to model their lives after that of this good Brother. Does not this thought fill you with consolation?

But the work done in Metuchen requires money. The Brothers' salaries are poor indeed. Little can they spare from the mere pittance they receive to educate these young men. It is a hard struggle for the Order to finance this house of studies.

Would it not be well for you to return to the Lord some of the wealth he gave you. Could you help the work along by founding a scholarship or by a substantial donation? The opportunity to repay in part the great good you received in school is here. Will you grasp it?

MEMORY OF SOME DEVOTED TEACHER!

THE NEW ST. STANISLAUS COLLEGE

Occupying a prominent site overlooking the Bay, with a frontage of 455 feet, St. Stanislaus College proudly rears its cross-crowned domes. The three main buildings run north and south, parallel to the beach. Stoutly constructed of brick, they are provided with numerous openings to secure ample ventilation and light. In the morning, the breeze from the Bay is wafted through every classroom, study hall and dormitory; in the evening, as the sun sinks behind the pines, their health-giving aroma, wending seaward, pervades the length and breadth of these spacious buildings.

The Class Rooms and the Study Halls.

The study halls and the class rooms, all on the ground floors of the main buildings, are equipped with modern school furniture. Each student is provided with an individual desk, both in class and study hall. The distribution of electric globes in the halls satisfies in every way the requirements of modern lighting.

Dormitories and Lavatories.

The dormitories, located on the second floors of the front buildings, are high, spacious and well ventilated rooms, screened throughout and are ideal places for rest. The soft lullaby of the waves on the beach, not a hundred feet away, lulls one to sleep. Adjoining each dormitory are separate lavatories and toilet rooms fitted according to the most exacting sanitary requirements. These airy dormitories and glistening lavatories bear evidence to the fact that in the rebuilding of the College, nothing was left out that could tend in any way to the health and comfort of the students.

Chapel.

The chapel, a spacious hall with openings on three sides, is situated on the second floor of the principal building. It is furnished with pews of a most attractive and elaborate design. With the help of friends the chapel has been adorned with splendid creations of the artists' handiwork. The handsome Altar is a princely gift of that staunch friend of the College—the Very Reverend Aloysius Van Waesberghe, the former beloved Pastor of Bay St. Louis. The life-size statues of the Sacred Heart, of the Blessed Virgin, of St. Joseph and of St. Stanislaus were imported from Paris and are masterpieces of statuary art.

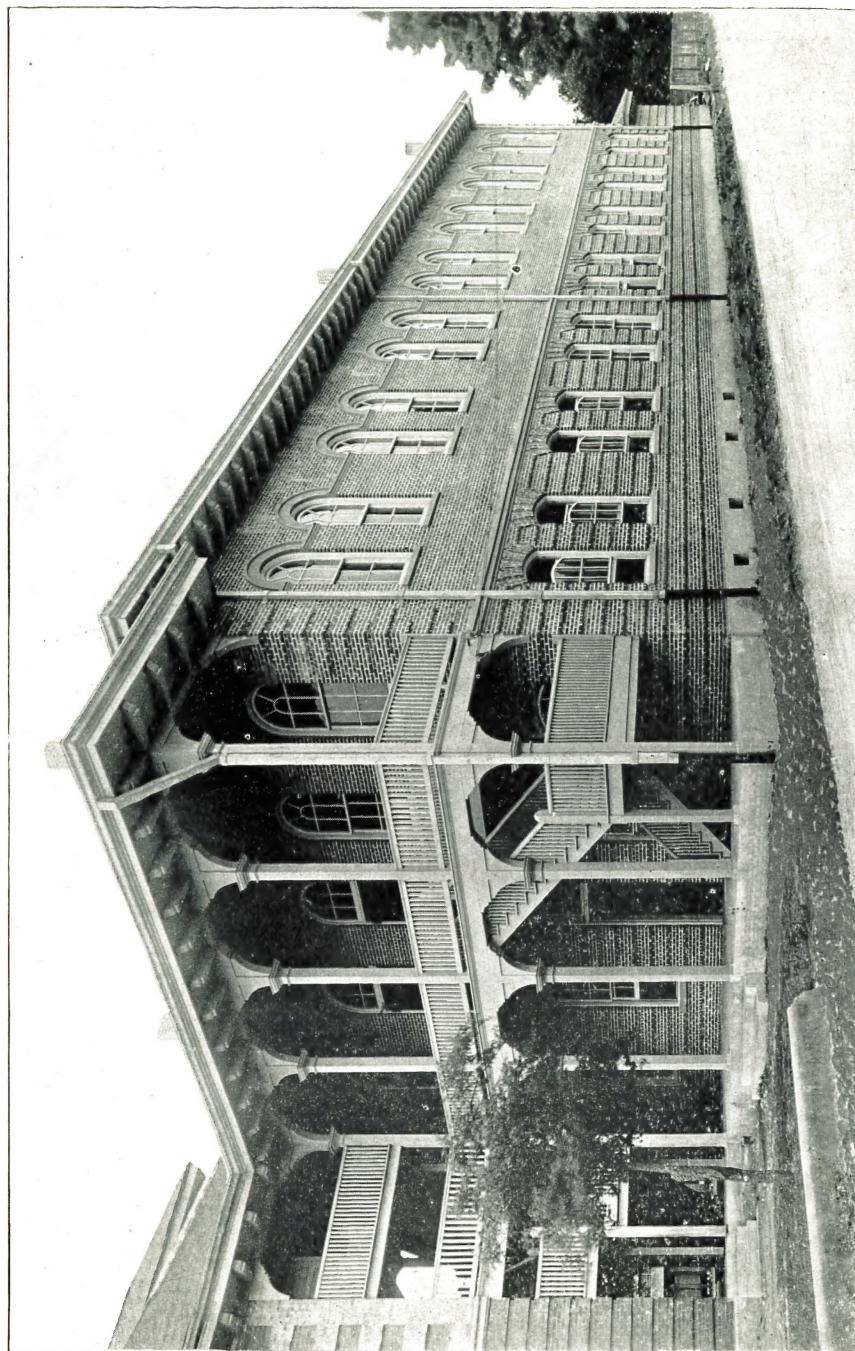

Physical and Chemical Laboratories.

Physical and chemical laboratories are on the first floor of the south building. Thanks to the generosity of friends of the Institution, the halls are now equipped with sufficient apparatus for intelligent laboratory work. The opportunity is thus afforded the students for individual work, under the direction of trained and experienced instructors.

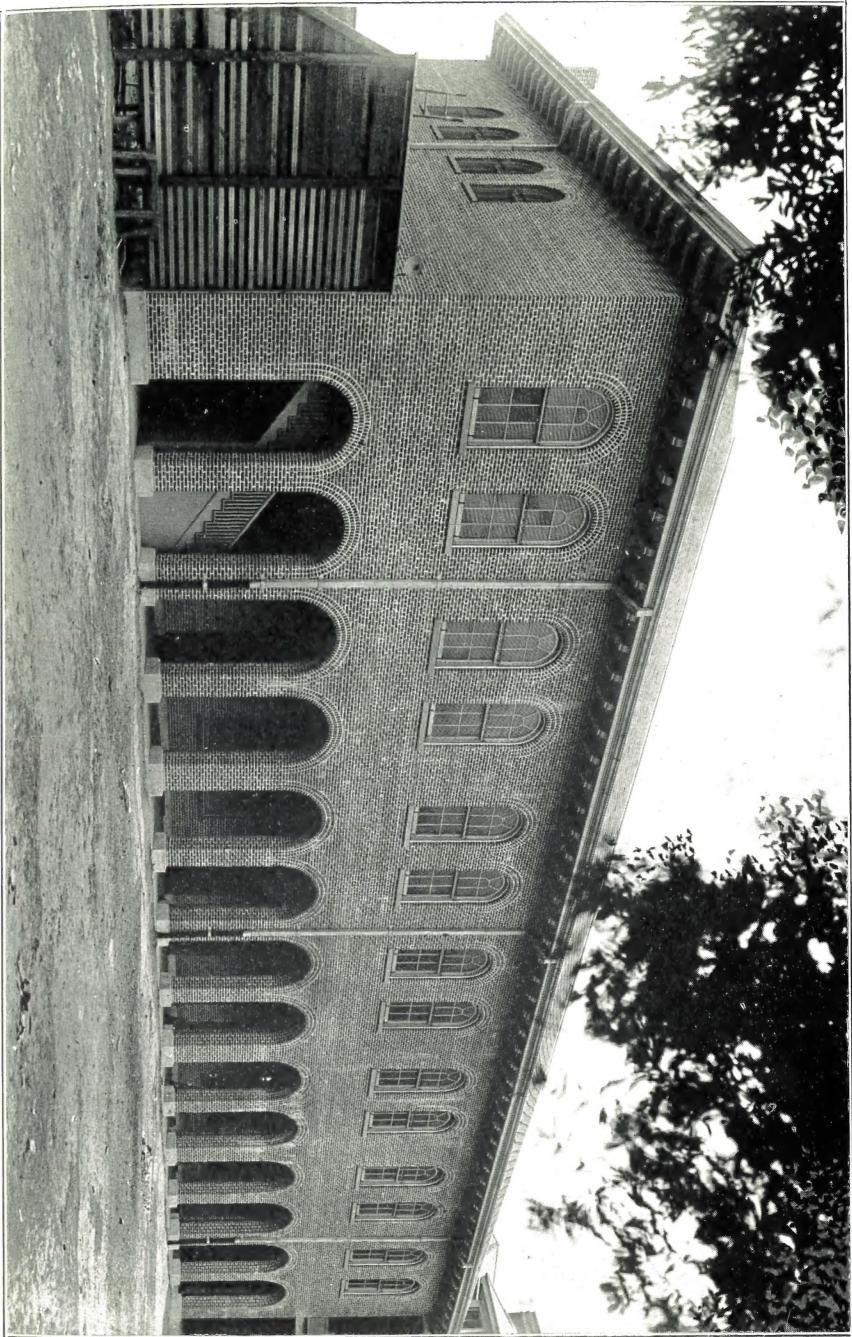

The Gymnasium.

The steady increase in the number of students attending St. Stanislaus and the growing popularity of Basketball during recent years, convinced the faculty that a new Auditorium was an imperative need. During the summer of 1923 plans were drawn by Messrs. Diboll & Owen, Architects of New Orleans and construction begun under the direction of Mr. Charles Sanger of Bay St. Louis; the building as completed stands as a monument to their genius, a marvel of convenience for the students and the pride of Bay St. Louis.

The Auditorium or Gymnasium occupies the entire second floor, 125 feet by 64 feet; the dimensions, seating conveniences, mechanical arrangements—all combine to make a basketball court equalled by few and surpassed by none in the South. The lower floor contains two modern class rooms, 25x35, a recreation hall, toilets, baths and spacious galleries. Four large dressing rooms with showers for use of athletes and a battery of showers for the student body, give every inducement to proper care of the body. Cleanliness being next to godliness, students of St. Stanislaus are taught their duty in this line and are given every convenience to fulfill the instructions.

Two hand-ball courts on the west end of the New Gymnasium complete the improvements made during the session 1923-1924.

Music Hall.

Beyond the gymnasium and south of the Campus, is the music hall, occupying the entire second floor of a large frame building; it comprises large rooms for instrumental music and vocal rehearsals, besides a dozen rooms separated by glazed partitions offer advantages of privacy for individual practice.

Dining Rooms.

On the first floor of the same building are the dining rooms for Juniors and Seniors. These refectories are large, well ventilated and screened throughout.

The Laundry.

Close to the Infirmary is the Laundry, fitted up with a thorough and up-to-date plant, handling in a most satisfactory manner all of the work of the Institution.

The Library.

It is divided into three sections, the Brothers', the Teachers' and the Boys'. The Boys' Library, located in the Seniors' Study Hall, contains upward of 2,000 volumes of choicest English literature. The students devote an hour daily to the reading of some standard author.

The Infirmary.

Beyond the spreading oaks, at one extremity of the Senior Campus, and distant from all noise and bustle, is the Infirmary. The indisposed are here placed under the care of an experienced graduate nurse and are visited daily by the attending physician.

The Salt Water Baths.

During the warm season, the waters of the Bay, in front of the College, present a natatorium as extensive as the Gulf. Every day in Summer, the students are allowed, under the care of their respective prefects, to take a refreshing dip in its invigorating waters. The bottom of the Bay, for a long distance out, is shallow, sandy and even. In the usual bathing area, the water is between three and five feet deep. The wharf extends a distance of 1,000 feet into the Bay. It supports, at four different intervals, large platforms fitted with benches for the comfort of the students, who, after supper, during the hot months, go there for about an hour, to enjoy the cool breeze.

Water Works and Fire Protection.

The College owns its system of water works. There are on the property four artesian wells, sunk at different periods. The last, 1,000 feet deep, has a pressure of 25 pounds at the level of the ground and a flow of 300 gallons per minute. This water supply is piped and distributed over the grounds for the purposes of irrigation, sanitation and fire protection. An analysis of this water, by State Chemist Hand, reveals its excellence as drinking water; it possesses, besides, valuable medicinal properties.

The Campus.

Lies directly west of the buildings. It is divided into two sections, one for the Seniors and one for the Juniors. It is a large, level tract of land affording ample room for all kinds of games. Shaded by magnificent, lordly oaks, it is provided with gymnastic apparatus for outdoor exercises. Seats conveniently placed under the trees afford a place of rest to the tired players or a point of vantage to the spectators. The cinder track has been the scene of many a spirited contest.

College Park.

A quarter of a mile from the College, in the piney woods, is the park. It is twelve acres in area, half of which is clear of trees, presenting a smooth, level, grassy lawn on which stretches a baseball field. A grand stand, whose seating capacity is over 1,000, was built in 1914. In this park are held the events of field days and school picnics.

Garden and Dairy.

Extensive gardens, in close proximity to the school, furnish fresh vegetables in abundance.

A herd of prize cattle supply milk and butter to the Institution.

End.

The primary End of the College is to train Christian gentlemen by the harmonious and co-ordinate development of the heart, the mind and the body, and the secondary end is to qualify them for the commercial world or the professional life.

In the pursuit of these ends, the Faculty leave untried no means which devotedness and enlightened policy can suggest. Realizing that Religion is the true basis of education and an integral part of life, the Brothers teach it by example and precept, and its principles are inculcated as the foundation upon which all sound education must be based. A Chaplain ministers to the spiritual needs of the Brothers and Students. Though uncompromisingly Catholic, in tone and teaching, the College authorities welcome moral students of other denominations and leave their religious opinions unrestricted. However, for the sake of order and discipline, such students are required to assist at the ordinary exercises of public worship.

HYGIENE

Undue attention to athletics at the expense of studies is not permitted; while, on the other hand, students are advised, expected, even strongly recommended, to take part in healthy outdoor sport. Personal cleanliness is exacted by rule, and all students are held to regular bathing and frequent change of clothing.

The college fare is wholesome in quality, abundant in quantity and varied in preparation, and this, supplemented by regular habits, pure air, artesian water and wisely regulated alternations of study and recreation, seldom fails to build up the weakest, or to strengthen the hardiest constitution.

In case of sickness, a competent physician in daily attendance and an experienced graduate nurse are guarantees of intelligent and assiduous care. However, as soon as serious symptoms begin to develop in any case, the parents of the sick boy are, as a matter of precaution, immediately informed.

SCENE IN ONE OF FIVE BATHROOMS

DISCIPLINE AND METHODS

The system of government is that of a well-regulated family; and the Faculty, as replacing the parents, insist on uniform compliance with the established rules of discipline. However, the students being at all times under the supervision of a prefect, infractions of the rules are, in a great measure, prevented. To further the aim of better discipline, the College has provided separate dormitories, study halls, dining rooms and playgrounds for all students under the age of fifteen. Gentlemanly conduct is required of the students at all times and in all places, and they are moreover strictly held to observe towards themselves, their companions and their superiors, those courtesies which are the distinguishing marks of Christian gentlemen.

Each class carries but one grade and is under the management of one Brother who teaches all the branches in the grade. This system insures better personal knowledge of the students, better attention to their individual needs and better results.

A well-defined and detailed program determines the amount of work to be performed monthly in each classroom. Frequent visits from the President to the classroom guarantee its execution.

While appealing to the high moral incentives to spur students to the performance of duty, the Brothers rely much on emulation as the touchstone of success in a student's life. The Faculty, by means of awards properly bestowed, and demerits justly given, have succeeded in establishing a system that stirs laudable ambition in the student from the opening day of the session to the close of the scholastic term.

Each week's attendance, supplemented by correct recitation and excellent conduct, entitles the student to 100 merits for application from his teacher, and 100 merits for conduct from his prefect. Any faulty recitation, or breach of the rules of gentlemanly deportment, entails the loss of one or more merits in the corresponding branch. A weekly report of both application to study and deportment is forwarded to parents or guardians.

By means of "extras," the student is enabled to make up for merits lost. These "extras," ten a week, are allowed for fine points of conduct or for certain well-defined class work, over and above what is required, or for extra diligence in doing the work assigned.

At the end of each month, premiums are awarded to the students who rank highest in merit in their respective grades.

A student whose average for application is 100 merits a week for the entire session is entitled to compete for the gold medal given in his class. A student whose average is 100 merits a week for conduct for the entire session, is entitled to compete for the gold medal given for deportment in his division.

Presence at school for the entire session, from the opening to the closing day, entitles the students to draw for the gold medal given in his department for attendance.

Twice a year, in February and June, examinations are held in the various departments, the results of which are sent to Parents or Guardians.

These examinations serve as a basis for the reorganization of the classes of the ensuing session.

The scholastic year lasts ten months or forty weeks, beginning during the first week of September, and closing towards the 20th of June. It is divided into two nearly equal terms, the second of which begins in February.

THE LEAGUE OF THE SACRED HEART

The College being directed by the Brothers of the Sacred Heart, they naturally strive to make a manly devotion toward that Divine Heart a distinguishing mark of their students. Among the means to accomplish this end the League of the Sacred Heart holds a leading place. The College has been canonically created a Local Centre, and all the Catholic students, without a single exception, are members of this meritorious association. The good wrought during the past years has been a matter of deep consolation, and the Brothers attribute, to a great extent, the exemplary conduct and Catholic spirit among their students to the blessings radiating from that benign Heart.

Immaculate Conception of the B. V. Mary Under the Protection of St. Stanislaus

This Sodality, canonically established by the Ordinary of the Diocese, December 8, 1878, is a branch of the Arch-Confraternity under the same title in Rome.

Its chief ends are:

- 1st. To propagate devotion to the Blessed Virgin Mary.
- 2nd. To afford to each Sodalist spiritual assistance and encouragement, thereby facilitating the attainment of virtue and Christian piety.

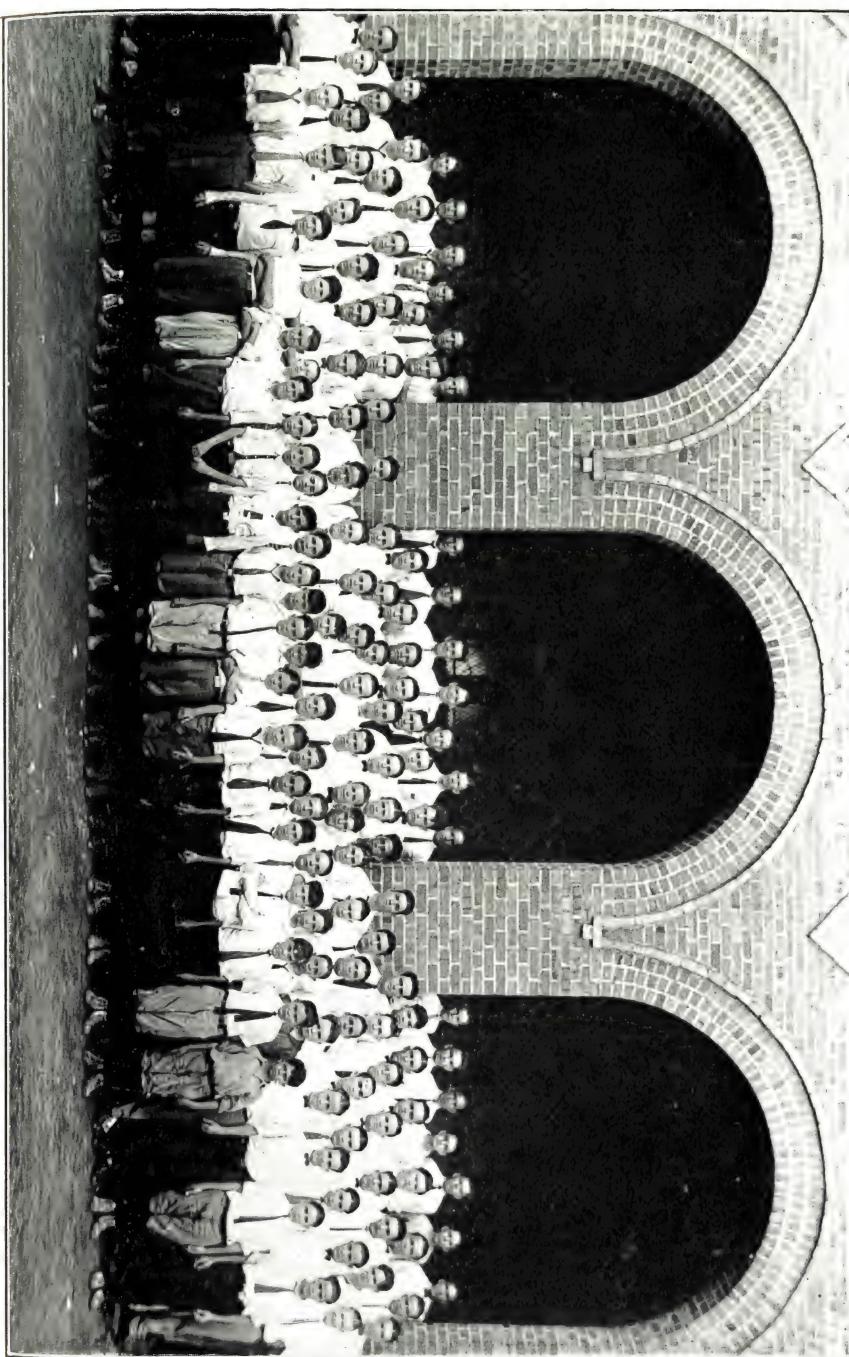

On all Sundays and Holidays of Obligation the members assemble in their Oratory for the purpose of reciting the Office of the Blessed Virgin, which is always preceded by a short exhortation from the Director and terminated by the singing of some pious hymn.

The Officers and Consultors meet every month to treat of matters concerning the proper administration of the Sodality.

The good resulting from these pious exercises and frequent reception of the Sacraments has been most gratifying to both Professors and Students.

ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

College Colors: Cardinal and Black

The Brothers in charge of the College, persuaded that physical training forms an integral part of a comprehensive education, view with pleasure any reasonable sports which tend to develop the strength, skill and physique of the students. To this end a gymnasium has been added to the College and placed in charge of a competent physical director. The course of instruction pursued in the gymnasium will be governed by the individual needs of the student. Class lessons in calisthenics and outdoor athletics are given daily.

The College campus is an extensive and turf tract, comprising about twelve acres of ground. Of this, about six acres is in a pine grove, where those not inclined to hard sports may find abundant amusement.

The genial climate permits outdoor exercise throughout the year. Football and basketball are the attractions during the winter months, but with the advent of spring term the students devote their spare time to becoming experts in the national game.

LITERARY AND DEBATING SOCIETY

This Society, organized in due form, and governed by fixed statutes, is intended to foster and perfect the literary tastes of its members, to afford them practice and readiness in debate, to polish their delivery and to ground them in the principles of sound reasoning.

Every month a meeting takes place, and while the more advanced members are held to original essays and debates, the others are encouraged to take part in the recitations and declamations. To prepare the members for after life, all meetings are conducted in strict accordance with parliamentary usages and are varied enough in character to satisfy the natural bent of individuals.

The work in this department is thorough and satisfactory. The students are taught to love the "Art Divine" and to regard its study as a privilege.

For years the excellence of our musical training has been admitted on all sides, and it is the earnest effort of the management to preserve and increase this enviable reputation.

Prof. Joseph Hemmersbach, a graduate of the Vienna, Austria, Conservatory, has been re-engaged as head of this department for the ensuing year. He has had large experience in teaching music and thoroughly understands the late methods of instruction.

ST. STANISLAUS ORCHESTRA

This organization is intended to encourage the students of music in general, to incite in them a laudable ambition to excel, and to furnish them a suitable medium to display their progress in this beautiful art. The choice selections rendered during the present scholastic year have greatly enhanced the solemnity of the religious festivals and added not a little to the pleasure of the literary and social reunions. This orchestra rehearses twice a week.

ALUMNI ASSOCIATION
ST. STANISLAUS COLLEGE

The objects of this Association are: 1st, to preserve and increase the filial affection which former students bear to their Alma Mater, and to encourage them to further its interests as far as lies in their power. 2d, to renew and perpetuate the friendships of younger days. 3d, to provide its members with the advice and help of sincere and trustworthy friends.

The members of the Association consist of graduates and former students of St. Stanislaus College. By right of graduation, graduates are received as members on application. All other students shall be admitted by a majority vote, a quorum being present. All graduates who sent in their application before the closing exercises of June, 1908, are enrolled as charter members. After that time all applicants for membership must go through the initiation ceremonies of reception.
